WARNING

ACIDS

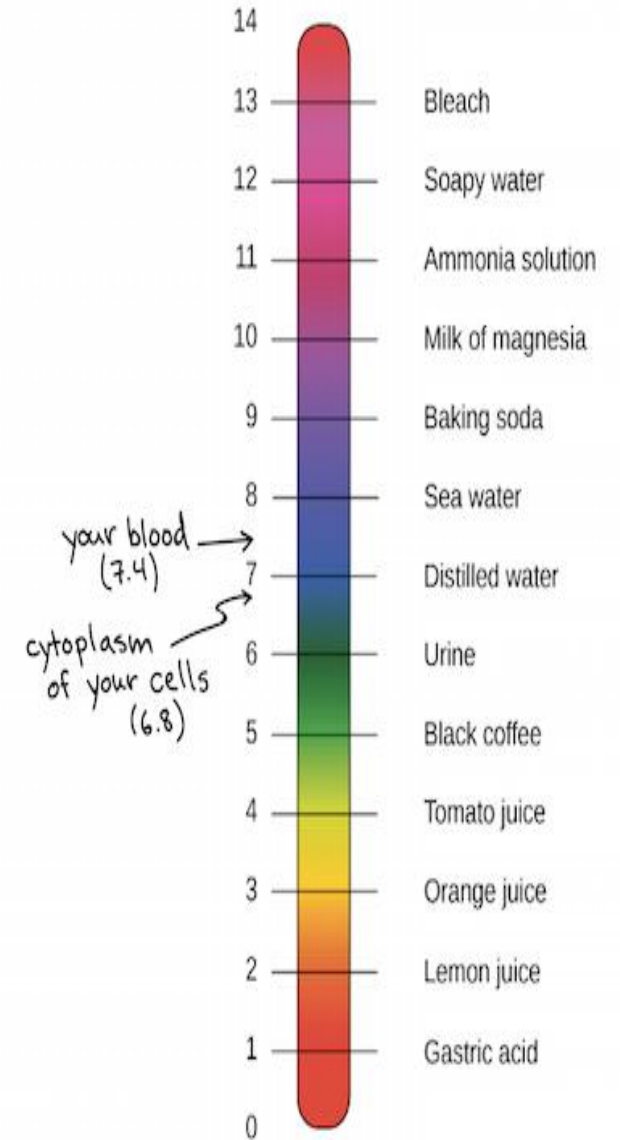

ACIDS IN NATURE

Common Acids

HCl H₂S HCN H₃PO₄ CH₃COOH

- Acids are ionic compounds that produce positive hydrogen ions (H⁺) when dissolved in water
- Acids are electrolytes, meaning that they conduct electrical current
- They react with metals to produce hydrogen gas

- Acids taste sour
- Acids turn blue litmus paper red
- A pH value less than 7 indicates an acid, and the lower the number is, the stronger the acid

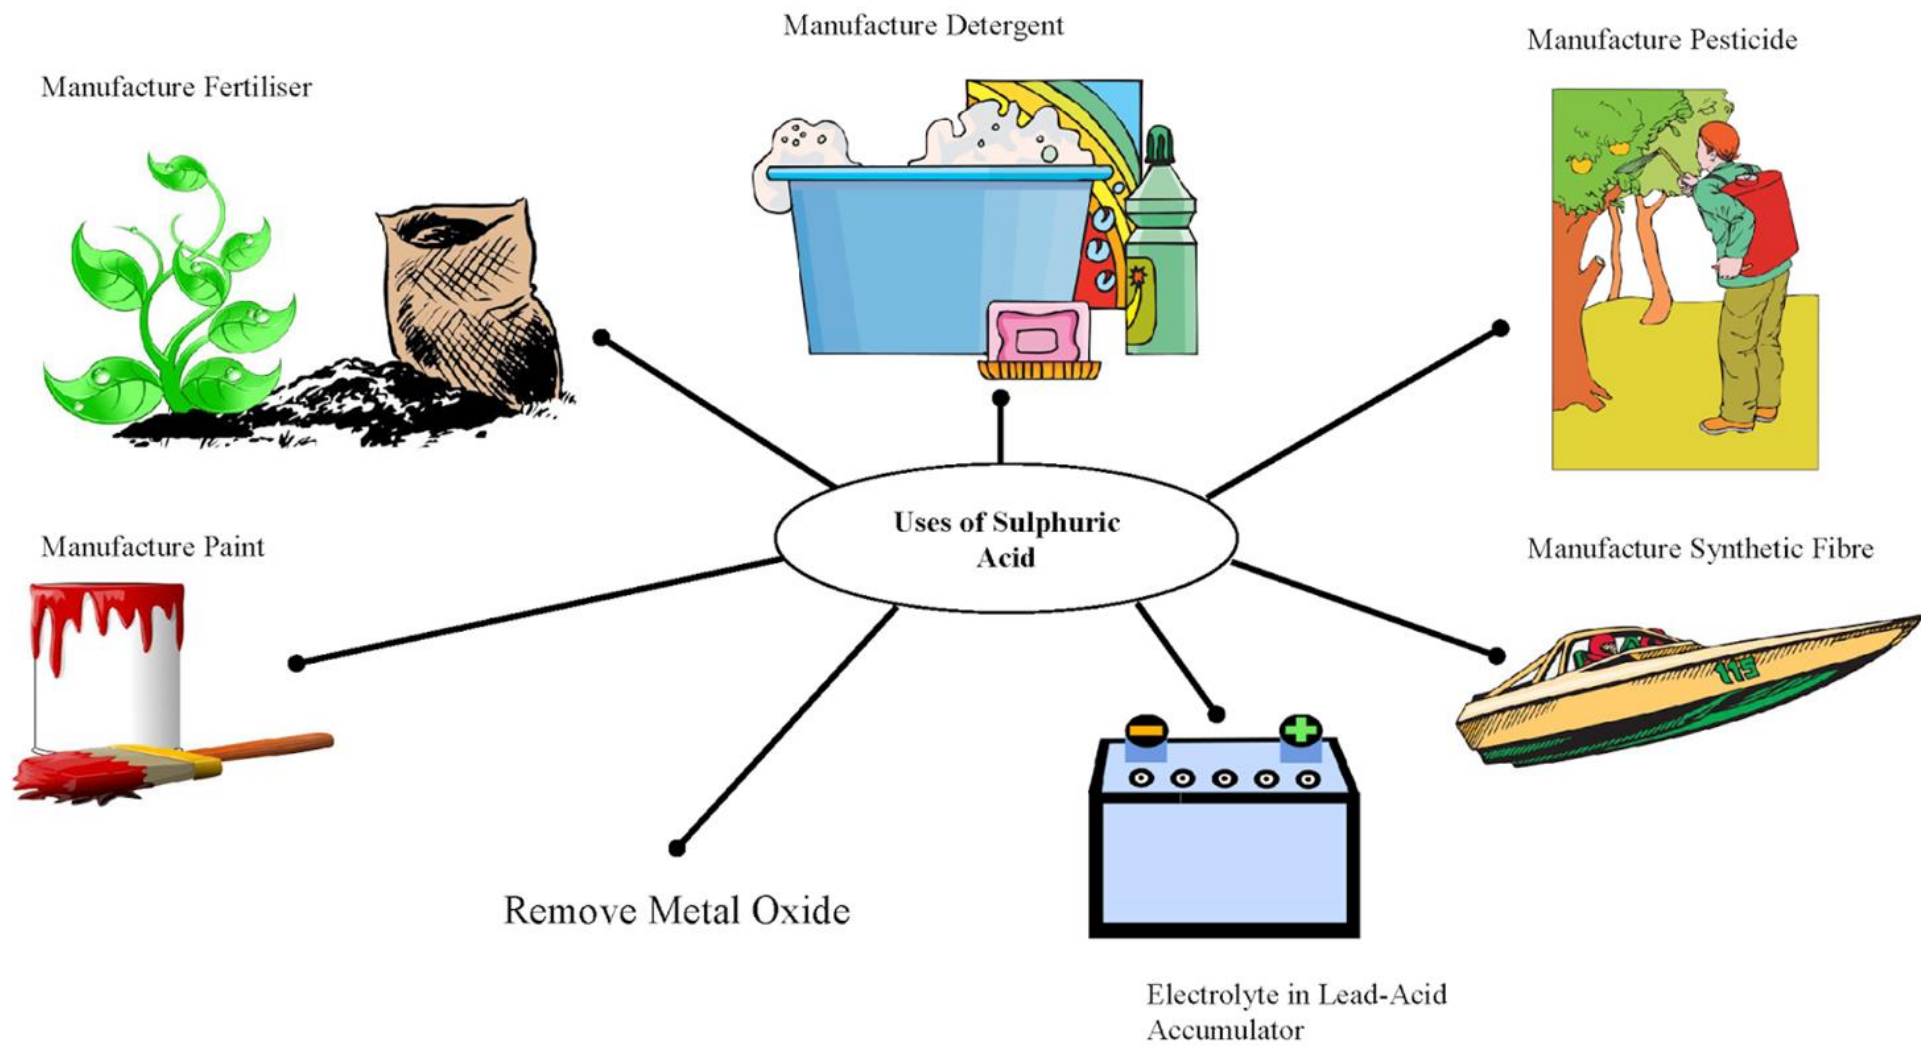

Industry use

- Sulfuric acid, is the most widely used acid in industry, and is also the most-produced industrial chemical in the world
 - fertilizer
 - detergent
 - batteries
 - dyes
- Acids are often use to remove rust and other corrosion from metals

Manufactured Substances in Industry 1

Uses of Sulphuric Acid

In food

- Tartaric acid is an important component of some commonly used foods like unripened mangoes and tamarind
- Natural fruits and vegetables also contain acids
- Citric acid is present in oranges, lemon and other citrus fruits

In food

- Oxalic acid is present in tomatoes, spinach, and especially in carambola and rhubarb
- Ascorbic acid (Vitamin C) is an essential vitamin for the human body and is present in such foods as lemon, citrus fruits, and guava

In food

- Many acids can be found in various kinds of food as additives, as they alter their taste and serve as preservatives
 - Phosphoric acid, for example, is a component of cola drinks
 - Acetic acid is used in day-to-day life as vinegar
 - Citric acid is used as a preservative in sauces and pickles
- Carbonic acid is one of the most common acid additives that are widely added in soft drinks

In Human Body

- Acids play important roles in the human body
 - The hydrochloric acid present in the stomach aids digestion by breaking down large and complex food molecules
 - Amino acids are required for synthesis of proteins required for growth and repair of body tissues

In Human Body

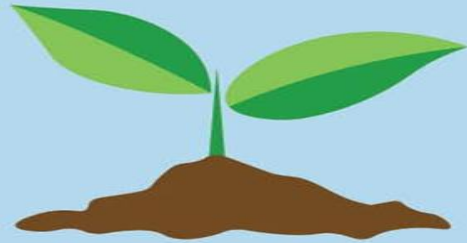

- Acids play important roles in the human body
 - Fatty acids are also required for growth and repair of body tissues
 - Nucleic acids are important for the manufacturing of DNA and RNA and transmitting of traits to offspring through genes
 - Carbonic acid is important for maintenance of pH equilibrium in the body

What do amino acids do?

Break down food.

Grow and repair body tissue.

Make hormones and brain chemicals.

Provide an energy source.

Maintain healthy skin, hair and nails.

Build muscle.

Boost your immune system.

Sustain a normal digestive system.

7 MAJOR FUNCTIONS OF STOMACH ACID

An anatomical illustration of the human stomach, colored in shades of orange and red, set against a blue background. The stomach is shown in a slightly curved, anatomical view. Seven callout boxes, numbered 1 through 7, are arranged around the stomach, each pointing to a specific area. The callouts are: 1. Sterilizes the Food (pointing to the upper part of the stomach), 2. Protein Digestion (pointing to the main body of the stomach), 3. Activating Pepsin (pointing to the lower part of the stomach), 4. Activating Intrinsic Factor (pointing to the upper part of the stomach), 5. Stimulating the Delivery of Bile and Enzymes (pointing to the lower part of the stomach), 6. Closing the Esophageal Sphincter (pointing to the esophagus), and 7. Opening the Pyloric Sphincter (pointing to the pylorus).

HOMEOPATHY ESSENTIALS

ACIDS IN HOMEOPATHY

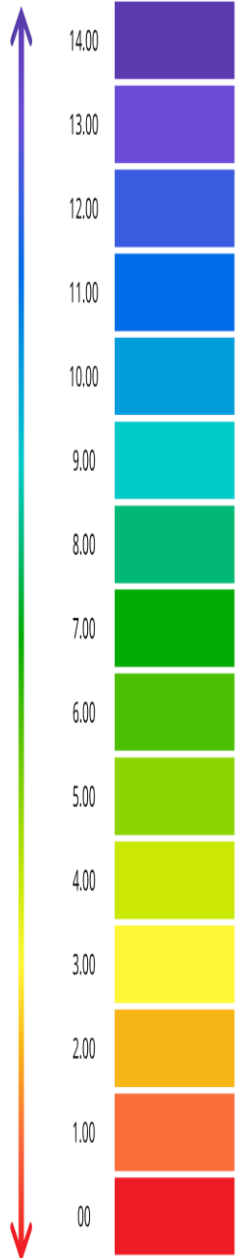

“Struggles with profound internal turmoil, seeking meaning and fulfillment within a chaotic and challenging existence”

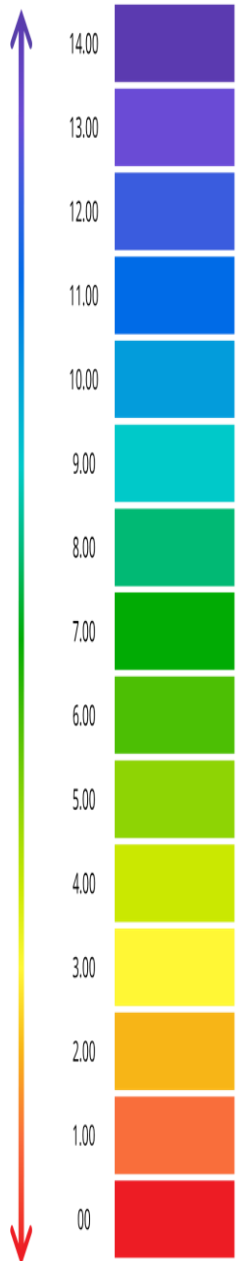

Activity

- They are usually hyperactive
- Too much work
- Too much mental activity
- Too much sex
- Too much travel
- Too much responsibility

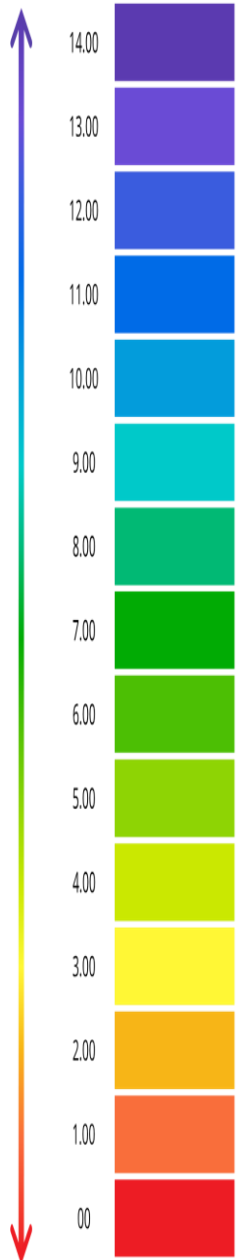

Activity

- They think they have an extended period of time
- The result of their duties is little or does not work
- Their work is inefficient

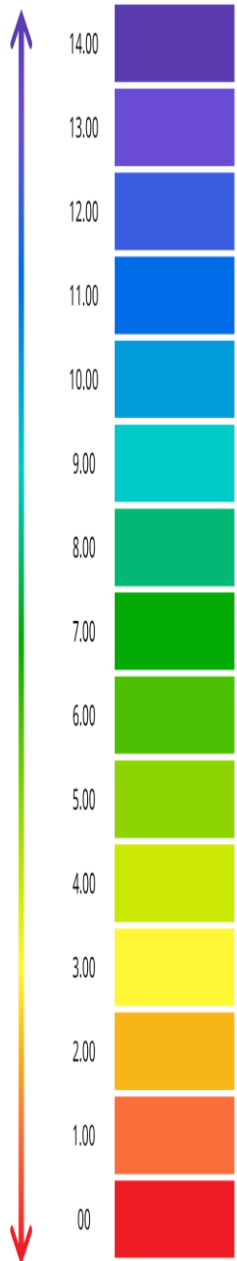

Struggle and exhaustion

- They want to be recognized but showing do not deserve anything
- They are sacrificing themselves which is a delusion, instead they are destroying themselves
- Stressing themselves just to please others
- Want to give their best, but they are not able to do it

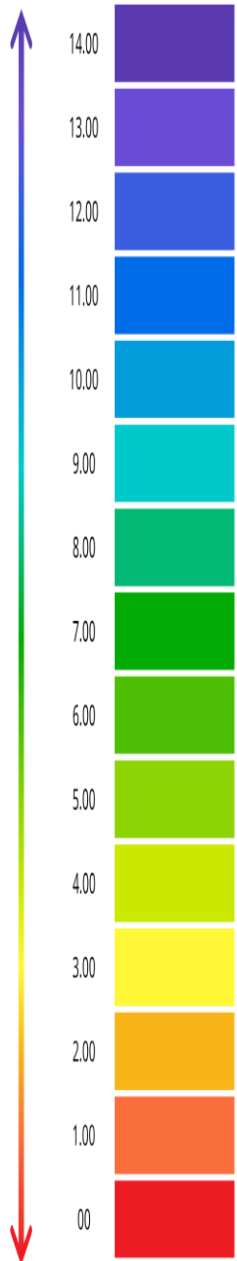

Struggle and exhaustion

- Fighting with no pleasure and result
- They feel they can count just on themselves, but have little energy to do anything
- All their effort and struggles will lead to a complete exhaustion either mentally, emotionally and physically, or all together

Destruction

- Everything or nothing
- They have a strong tendency to destroy things around them, but in reality they are destroying themselves
- They are loosing one piece of themselves after another
- The tendency to destructiveness is slow

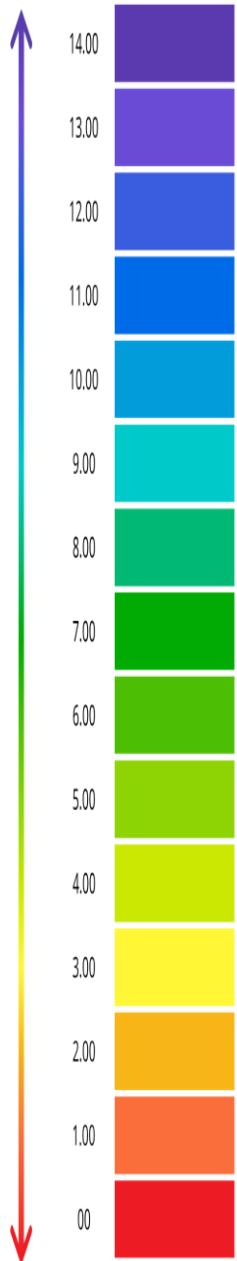

Destruction

- They are cutting off the possibilities of gathering energy for repairing or changing their life
- They have no limit on their pattern of the self-destructive quality

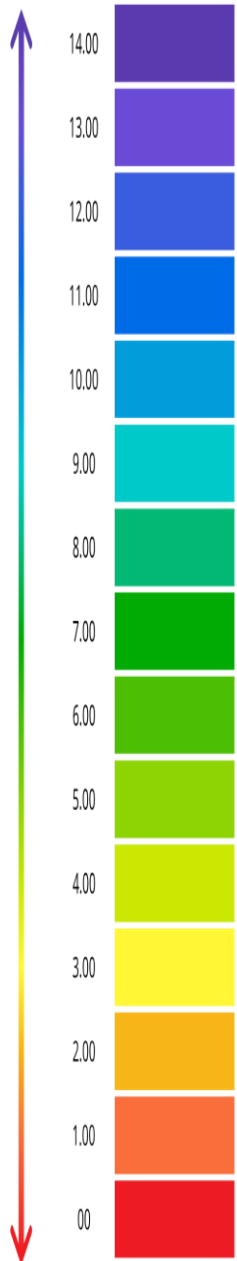

Consumption

- They have problem with their digestive system
- They can't be properly fed in their life
- Food is energy but they can't digest it
- Unable to take in any nourishment
- They have problem in general with digestion
- Tend to have diarrhea and/or constipation

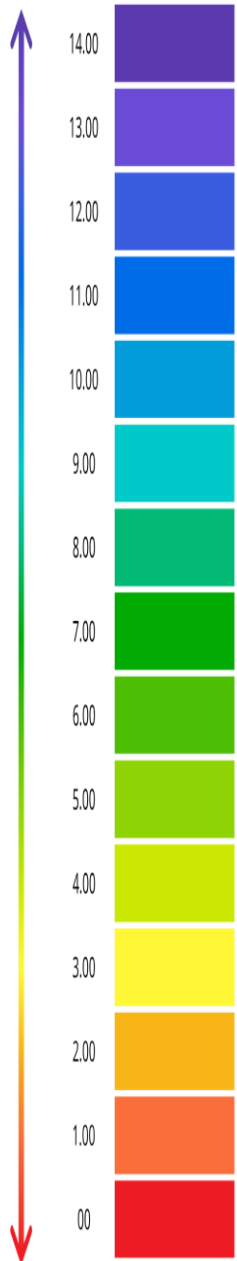

Loosing

- Loss is one of the most important topic to the acids
- It is a loss in their body (blood, water, weight)
- and also loss in their life

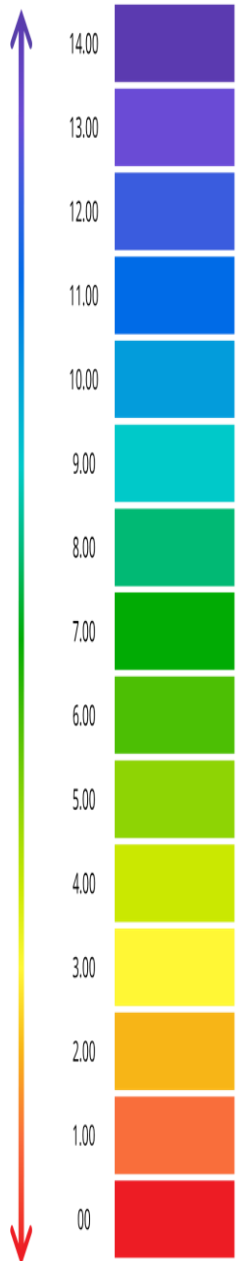

Loosing

- The meaning of loss for and Acid
 - loosing a part of them
 - loss leaves scars, and the corrosion is hardly cured
 - a wound can't heal completely, never

Loosing

- The issue in loss:
 - inability to repair
 - inability to have back
 - inability to build up again

Loosing

- The biggest fear:
 - loss of memory

Loosing of everything means for an Acid they are not able to retain their memory!

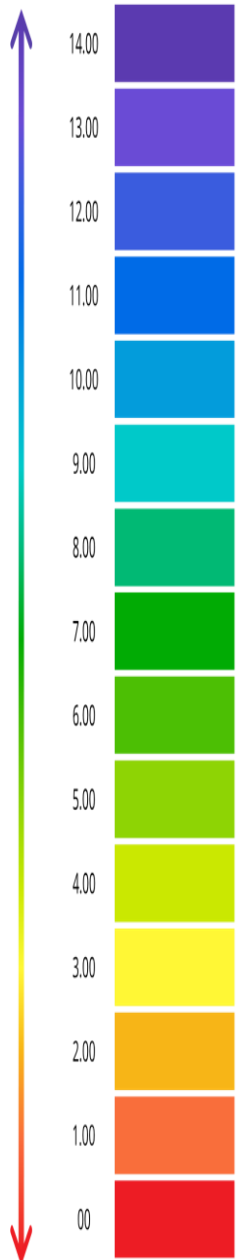

Independency and relationship

- Acids have a feeling that they are not allowed to have an identity
 - without identity they can't be independent
- They have lack of affection towards loved one
- They have no affection just sense of responsibility

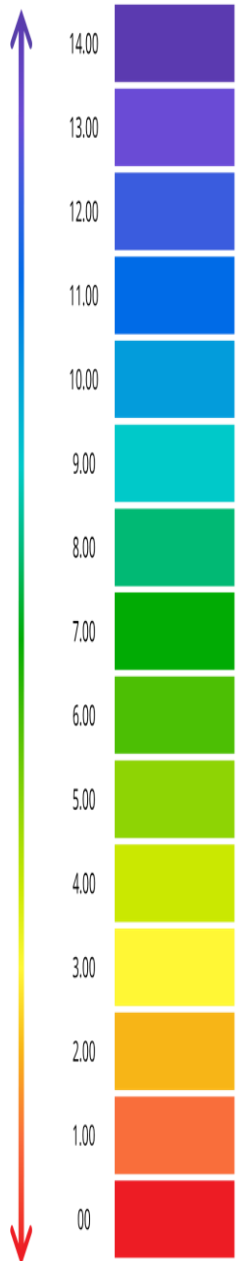

Independency and relationship

- They can be hateful and revengeful
- They become selfish and egoistic
- They are not able to form a warm bond with anyone
- In their family they are cute and nice, but outside of the family they have no relation with others

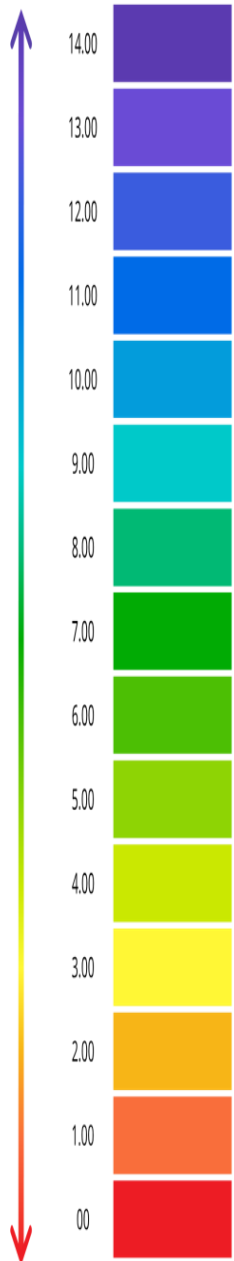

Syphilitic tendency

- It is an internal breakdown and disintegration
- All their act, struggle, or effort will lead to the state of destruction
- Self-destruction shows on their physical level
- Loss of blood, loss of water
- Fistules, fissures, ulcerations

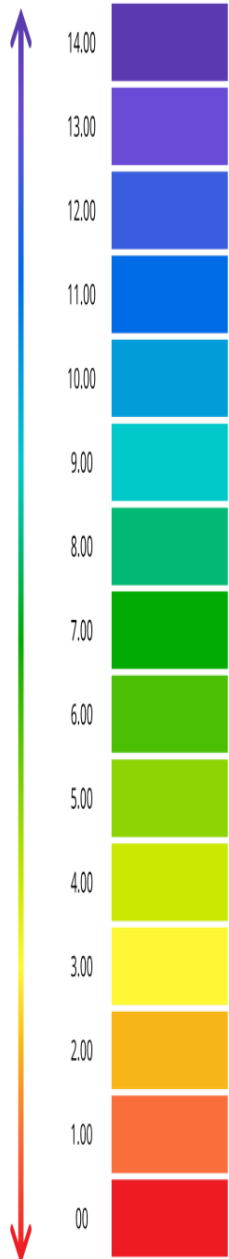

Burning

- Their reaction is tend to burn
 - gastric acid
 - corrosive nature causing bleeding
 - sour taste
 - smelly discharges
 - offensive odors
- They have acidic nature of constitution

Increase, decrease

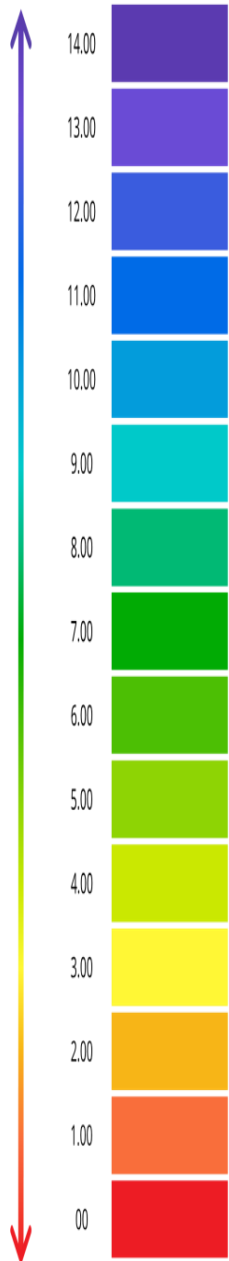

- Their pain and complaints are in general increasing gradually and ceasing suddenly
 - headache
 - fever

“The original cause is a sudden shock.

The state can come on as the result of a separation from the primary care person.

If the child has a predisposition to be this remedy, he or she will feel abandoned, for instance, if the mother goes to work.

From that time on, the child insists on constantly being watched and never lets the parent out of sight...

In play with other children, they demand to be the center of attention.

They are strong leaders. They stir up the other children, and the children become agitated as a defense. They have to win all the time and will cheat at games and at school. They steal toys and they deny it.”

This remedy has fear of ghosts, fear of dark, and fear of being alone. It is also mentioned in the rubrics “destructiveness”, “biting”, “kicking” and “striking”

Boericke wrote: “Wild delirium at night; very restless, jumps out of bed; sweats; is afraid to be alone; is rude and abuses everyone... photophobia with burning of lids.”

This remedy lies between Belladonna, Stramonium, and Tuberculinum
